Fever In The Community

Below are some ways that the Fever is active in the community. Questions on how to become involved with your favorite Fever activity may be directed to Dan Gaines, Community Relations Manager for the Fever, by calling (317) 917-2500.

FEVER ADVISORY TEAM

In a unique partnership with the Indianapolis community, the Fever created a Community Advisory Team in January 2000. The Advisory Team is a support group, which consists of nearly 30 prominent and influential women in the Indianapolis area. The partnership between the Fever and the community leaders is the first of its kind in the WNBA's seven-year history. The intent of the Advisory Team is to galvanize support from some of the most influential women in the city and to assist the Fever with various community programs.

F.E.V.E.R.

For Every Victory Earns Respect - Fever players spend nearly three months between January and March speaking to Indianapolis-area fifth-grade boys and girls about the value of setting goals and achieving them. Niele Ivey and Kristen Rasmussen made appearances at 11 schools in the Indianapolis Public School (IPS) system in the 2003-04 offseason to lead this initiative.

SELF-ESTEEM SEMINAR

For a fourth straight year, the Fever targeted young girls from the IPS system and conducted a self-esteem seminar prior to the start of the 2004 season. One of the franchise's primary community relations initiatives, the purpose of the seminar each year is to help boost self-esteem, to help avoid drug use, alcoholism, leen pregnancy and crime. Usually held in April prior to the start of training camp, this year's Self-Esteem Seminar was held April 7 at Conseco Fieldhouse with participation from Niele Ivey, Kristen Rasmussen, Coretta Brown and several members from the Fever Advisory Team.

PREGAME BALL EXCHANGE

A frademark of the WNBA and the Indiana Fever, the pregame ball exchange affords youngsters an opportunity to receive a game ball from Fever players prior to the tipoff of each game.

FEVER FRIENDS

In partnership with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central Indiana, the Fever will match young boys and girls with an adult mentor to attend Fever games throughout the 2004 season. Through this program, Fever players interact with kids and serve as role models. Fever Friends, which started during the inaugural Fever season, partnered exclusively with Big Sisters of Indiana prior to 2003. Since the Big Brothers and Big Sisters programs merged, the Fever began hosting boys and girls.

THE FEVER FUND OF THE PACERS FOUNDATION

The vision of the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation is to be recognized as a leading funding resource for programs that promote a strong self-image and encourage the development of valuable life skills among young women throughout the state of Indiana. Amual fundraising opportunities are conducted through each of the Indiana Pacers' and Fever basketball franchises. Specific to

The Fever Fund, organizations benefiting since 2001, among others, are the Boys & Girls Club of Indianapolis, Girls Incorporated of Indianapolis, The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, The Julian Center and the YWCA Family Intervention Center.

GIVE-A-GAME PROGRAM

Over the past four years, individuals and companies have purchased Fever season tickets and donated those tickets to the Pacers Foundation or another organization of their choice, allowing youth in the community to attend a Fever game. Last year nearly 11,000 tickets were donated over the course of the 17-game home schedule.

GOVERNOR'S FITNESS CHALLENGE

The Fever has partnered for the past three years with the Indiana Governor's Office for the Governor's Fitness Challenge. The school with the most students who completed a 9-week fitness challenge won a 1-hour Fever fitness and basketball clinic hosted by a Fever player at their school. The 2004 Northern Indiana winner was Brooks Elementary School (Fishers, Ind.). The winner from Southern Indiana was Winchester Village Elementary (Indianapolis, Ind.).

Fever In The Community

READING TIMEOUTS

The Fever teamed with the Pacers in 2003-04 to host eight Reading TimeOuts throughout the Indianapolis area. Reading TimeOuts are part of the Fever Read to Achieve Program. The Fever kicked off their Read To Achieve initiative with a special event at Christel House Academy on May 14. In partnership with the Christel House Academy, the Fever has begun planning a "Reading Corner" in the school, which will serve as a site for many future Reading TimeOuts.

FEVER FUND BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Another program assisted by the Fever Advisory Team is a bowling tournament to help raise funds for the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation. The Fever has made its Fever Fund Bowling Tournament an annual event, which this season will be held on August 18 at Brownsburg Bowl, located in Brownsburg, Ind. Fever players and coaches will participate in this great event.

The Fever Fund has raised over $35,000 from the bowling tournament since its inception in 2001.

FEVER / YMCA JUNIOR HOOPS LEAGUE

For the fifth season, the Fever will partner with the YMCA to host a girls' basketball league from June-August for girls ages 6-15. Young girls not only play in the basketball league and receive a free jersey, they also get the opportunity to interact with Fever coaches and players. In addition, the girls attend a pre-selected Fever game.

The Fever will host the finals of the league at Conseco Fieldhouse, At the conclusion of each game a Fever player will distribute trophies and congratulate each team member.

COURTSIDE FEVER

Courtside Fever is published 11 times in The Indianapolis Star during the Fever season.

This "Newspapers in Education/Partnership for Young Readers" program is designed to promote critical thinking and enhance math and statistical skills, while at the same time encouraging our youth to read. In addition, a Fever coach or player is featured each week, so that the youth can learn more about the Fever team.

JR. NBA / JR. WNBA PARTICIPANT CAMP

In March 2004, the Pacers and Fever hosted its first Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA participant camp at Conseco Fieldhouse. The camp brought 40 boys and girls from across Indiana that were a part of the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program and were selected based upon their pursuit of the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA Keys to Success: Practice. Sportsmanship, Commitment, Attitude, Teamwork and Health and Fitness. The 2-hour camp featured station work and drills and some special appearances from Fever player Kristen Rasmussen and Pacers players Jonathan Bender and James Jones. Kids enjoyed interaction from the stars as well as an opportunity to ask questions and receive autographs from the athletes. This camp comes a year after the Pacers and Fever joined to conduct the first Coaches Clinic in the history of Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program.

JR. WNBA DROP-INS

Another element of the Jr. WNBA program in the 2003-04 offseason involved special drop-ins by Fever players at Boys & Girls Clubs of Indianapolis participating in the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program. Tamika Catchings, Niele Ivey, Kristen Rasmussen and Coretta Brown combined to make eight visits from December 2003 to March 2004. During the visits they were part of a number activities including conducting minicamps, taking part in drills with the children, speaking to kids and answering questions about the keys to their success and signing autographs.

CORPORATE TIP-OFF LUNCHEON WITH VAL ACKERMAN / READING TIMEOUT WITH VAL ACKERMAN

Among the special events during the 2004 preseason was a visit from WNBA President Val Ackerman. In March 2004 Ackerman visited Conseco Fieldhouse and also took part in a Reading TimeOut with the Fever's Tamika Catchings, Niele Ivey and Kristen Rasmussen at The Christel House Academy. More than 60 second-grade children participated. The kids also were able to ask questions and received some Fever gifts as part of the hour-long event.

A few hours later, Ackerman was the keynote speaker at the Tip-off Luncheon held at Conseco Fieldhouse that served as an introduction of the Fever's 5th anniversary season. She spoke on topics that included the growing potential of the WNBA, the excitement around the upcoming season and the future of the league. Other distinguished speakers included Indianapolis Mayor Bart Peterson and Pacers Sports & Entertainment CEO/President Donnie Walsh. Fever representatives included Head Coach Brian Winters, as well as players Tamika Catchings, Natalle Williams, Stephanie White, Kristen Rasmussen and Niele Ivey. A number of community organizations and businesses were also part of the event.

Fever In The Community/Pacers Foundation

BLACK HISTORY MONTH READING EVENT

In conjunction with Indiana Black Expo, the Fever hosted its first Black History Month Reading Event at Conseco Fieldhouse in February 2004. Nearly 100 children look part in the event that featured guest readers Niele Ivey and Kristen Rasmussen of the Fever, Dee Moronkola of the Indiana Firebirds, as well as Indiana Black Expo staff. Children were laught the value of reading and of Black History Month before they were each read a variety of stories from the guest readers. The books included some by African-American authors and some with cultural and heritage links to Black History.

WNBA COMMUNITY ASSIST AWARD

While several players gave their time to the community during the 2003-04 offseason, none gave quite as much as Niele ivey. The Fever guard drove the Fever's offseason community campaign with numerous appearances throughout Indiana. Whether she was a special guest at a local Boys & Girls Club, or a featured speaker at the Self-Esteem Seminar, Ivey served as a devoted spokeswoman for the Fever in the community.

Throughout January and February 2004, Ivey visited several IPS schools as part of the For Every Victory Earns Respect (F.E.V.E.R.) program. She shared with hundreds of children the importance of setting goals, working hard, earning respect, dreaming big and never giving up on those dreams.

Ivey made many other appearances to surrounding schools.

Boys & Girls Clubs and organizations like Girl Scouts and the Riverside Family Center, an inner city Indianapolis Parks facility that caters to many of the city's young women. Ivey shared personal stories like overcoming two major knee injuries in college and the joy she experienced after winning an NCAA. Championship with Notre Dame in 2001. She also shared her unique perspective as a mother in the WNBA, even bringing her son Jaden along on a few appearances.

Ivey also shared her knowledge of the game with children. She closely interacted with a number of children giving them pointers on the game and demonstrating drills during Fever fitness clinics and special visits to schools.

Finally, Ivey was a leader for the Fever in the WNBA's Read to Achieve initiative, as well. She read to dozens of elementary school children as part of the program. In addition to school visits she was a reader in the Fever's joint venture with Indiana Black Expo in a Black History Month reading event at Consecci Fieldhouse.

For her efforts the WNBA donated $500 in Ivey's name to a charity of her choice, Previous Fever recipients of the WNBA's Community Assist Award have been Tamika Catchings, Nikki McCray and Kelly Schumacher.

PACERS FOUNDATION, INC.

Pacers Foundation, Inc., the public charity founded by Pacers Sports & Entertainment, is dedicated to improving the lives of Indiana's young people by building individual and corporate partnerships that will provide assistance for projects that benefit Indiana's youth. Since its inception in 1993, the Pacers Foundation has awarded more than $3.5 million in cash and inkind donations through grants, scholarships and Indiana Pacers and Indiana Pacer tickets.

Thanks to the support of many corporate partners and numerous individual supporters, the Pacers Foundation is impacting Indiana's youth in significant and diverse ways. The pooling of the charitable contributions of the Foundation's team of donors stretches every dollar further, giving greater impact and providing sizable resources for youth projects and programs that increase the opportunities for Indiana's youth to five healthy, fulfilling lives. With a solid foundation, our youth can then go on to make significant contributions to society.

During the 2003-04 Pacers' season, the Pacers Foundation granted $135,000 to 41 non-profit organizations offering youth programs in Indiana and an additional $14,000 in scholarships. During the 2002 and 2003 Fever seasons, the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation granted $16,000 to five non-profit organizations serving young women throughout the state of Indiana. Throughout the 2003-04 Pacers' and Fever seasons more than $420,000 worth of Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever tickets were distributed.

The Pacers Foundation also raises funds to grant back to the community through special events such as the Monster Masquerade, the Pacers Foundation Golf Outing, the Fever Fund Bowl-A-Thon, memorabilia auctions, on-line auctions and a 50/50 raffle.

For more information on the Pacers Foundation, please call (317) 917-2864, email Foundation@Pacers.com or visit www.PacersFoundation.org.

WNBA In The Community

WNBA IN THE COMMUNITY

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the eighth season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body, Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA MIND, BODY, SPIRIT.

The WNBA's Mind, Body. Spirit platform is the league's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two critical themes - nutrition, exercise and positive self-image and breast health awareness. The nutrition, exercise and positive selfimage segment focuses on the importance of good nutrition, regular exercise and positive self-image and targets youth as well as their families. WNBA teams conduct a variety of programs such as to fitness and nutrition clinics and seminars to raise awareness on these issues and help educate children and adults.

As it has in each of the league's previous seven seasons, the WNBA's Breast Health Awareness Program will work to generate awareness and educate women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative. The program includes national and local outreach to educate people about this important cause.

For the second year, the WNBA is proud to have the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation as a partner and beneficiary of the program. In 2003, the WNBA and its teams raised more that $150,000 to benefit the Komen Foundation, its Affiliates and the fight against breast cancer. In its 22nd year. the Komen Foundation is a global leader in the fight against breast cancer through its support of innovative research and community-based outreach programs.

WNBA READ TO ACHIEVE

WNBA Read to Achieve is a yearround, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. The league's efforts help to build a lifelong love of reading in young people and provide greater and access to books and technology for children. Supported by Reading Is Fundamental and Scholastic, Inc., WNBA Read to Achieve promotes reading through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year. WNBA players, coaches and family members also join members of the NBA family on local and national All-Star Reading Teams.

JR. NBA AND JR. WNBA PRESENTED BY GATORADE AND NIKE

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years-old) are 2003-04 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country. The program helps to stress fundamental skill development, teamwork, sportsmanship and positive adult participation in the lives of children.

Pacers Academy

On the court, the Indiana Pacers have served as one of most successful franchises in the National Basketball Association, making the playoffs 14 of the last 15 seasons. Off the court, the Pacers have delivered a success of another kind.

On Aug. 23, 2001, the Pagers Academy

On Aug. 23, 2001, the Paders Academy opened, the first school to be sponsored by an NBA team (two NFL teams, Seattle and San Francisco have similar programs). With classrooms in downtown Indianapolis' Union Station, the Academy is an alternative middle and secondary school for atrisk students in the Indianapolis Public School system. The Pacers, IPS, the Simon Youth Foundation, the City of Indianapolis and Costco Wholesale are sponsors of the school which serves roughly 135 students in grades six through 12 with 75 students at the middle school level. Students study English, math, social studies, physical education and art.

"The Pacers' emphasis has always been the well-being of young people in our community," said Pacers Sports & Entertainment's CEO/President Donnie Walsh. "We have always been involved in activities that promote opportunity for young people to have better lives. That is what Pacers Academy will provide - greater opportunities for the young people who attend this academy. We hope the rest of the NBA follows our lead."

"The Pacers Academy is an excellent example of cooperation and collaboration between IPS, city government and the Indianapolis business community," said Indianapolis Mayor Bart Peterson. "We believe that many new educational opportunities will be created as a result of this partnership."

The Pacers are partners in the project in much more than name. The franchise will use a variety of its resources, ranging from community partners, corporate sponsors and team personnel, to assist teachers and students in improving in such areas as attendance, academic performance, citizenship and community involvement.

"The kids have definitely shown a lot of interest. They're excited," said Pacers Academy Principal Anita Silverman. "Hearing that it's part of this bigger entity makes them excited, Along with sharing their name with us, the (Pacers) are involving us in a reading program, they're helping us with mentorship and they're giving us incentives.

"A lot of people thought the Pacers were just money behind it, and they've proven to be so much more. We're in their hearts. We are part of who they are. They believe in our kids. They want to help our kids succeed."

The middle school curriculum features participation in service-learning projects such as Habitat for Humanity, and emphasizes interdisciplinary and thematic units as well as skill development.

High school students participate in career internships with local businesses, which will include PS&E. A computer-based curriculum allows students to work independently and also includes career-development courses used for teaching marketable skills. Classes begin at 10:00 a.m. and run through 5:00 p.m.

A key element in pulling it all together is developing close relationships not only with the students, but with their parents or guardians.

"We had a planning meeting where I invited all the parents," said Silverman. "I stressed that we are building a community. We're not just educating your children, we're educating your children along with you.

"There's been so much blame: it's the school's fault, it's the parents' fault, it's the child's fault. It's nobody's fault, it's our responsibility to make this work, and the only way we can do that is to have a Pacers Academy family and we're already seeing that happening."

The Pacers have developed a full menu of ways to assist students. The franchise is offering:

- · Mentoring opportunities;
- · Job shadowing;
- · Tours of and classes at Conseco Fieldhouse;
- · Merchandise and tickets for rewards and incentives:
- Guest appearances by Pacers and Fever players and coaches;
- · Volunteer opportunities;
- · Social gatherings and functions;
- · Internships.

Though the Pacers and Fever have been heavily involved in a variety of community relations projects over the years, the Pacers Academy represents a substantial commitment.

With seven licensed teachers, a social worker and a partlime guidance counselor on staff and an enrollment that has a maximum of 135, the teacher-student ratio is a relatively low 1:19, encouraging more one-on-one interaction.

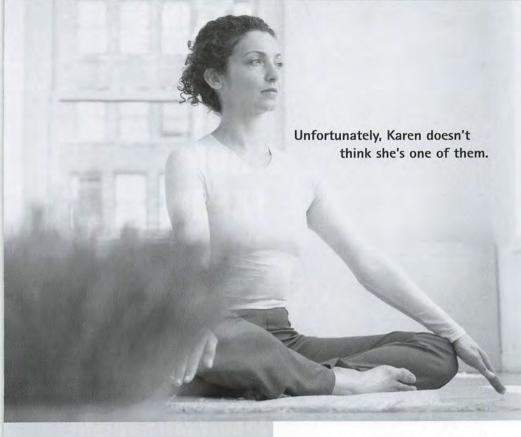

Students who have experienced difficulty with attendance and grades in traditional school settings may apply for admission to the school. Their consideration is a joint decision based on parent, student and school recommendation, and includes a mandatory interview with each student and a parent or guardian. Students who have been expelled from IPS schools will not be considered.

"IPS is pleased to be home to this innovative school," said Superintendent Duncan N.P. Pritchett Jr. "This extraordinary partnership will provide our students not only a strong academic foundation, but hands-on opportunities to gain career experience. Through the service-learning component, our students will become contributing members of our community while they are young and hopefully will develop a taste for community service that will last a lifetime."

PS&E AT PACERS ACADEMY

PS&E staff meet with students from the Academy to discuss a variety of topics Important to today's teens and to implement the TALKS curriculum. The goal of TALKS is to structure opportunities for constructive dialogue between mature, adult role models and youth by creating networks between schools, communities and churches that will provide instruction in moral ethical and responsible living.

Mr. Simon is married and has six children.

CEO/President / Pacers Sports & Entertainment

DONNIE WALSH

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER/PRESIDENT/ PACERS SPORTS & ENTERTAIMENT

Not only has Donnie
Walsh been an assistant coach, general manager and now, CEO/ President, for the Indiana Pacers, he has been the franchise's constant builder and believer.

On and off the court.

Under Walsh's leadership, the Pacers have become one of the NBA's elite teams.

reaching the NBA Finals in 2000, reaching the Eastern Conference Finals five times and winning four Central Division Championships. Consider that when Walsh took over the Pacers as general manager in April 1986, the team was coming off a 26-56 season and had reached the playoffs only once in 10 NBA seasons. Under Walsh's guidance, the Pacers have now reached 56 years and he has also brought three of the game's most respected names, Larry Brown, Larry Bird and Isiah Thomas (all Hall of Famers), in to coach the team.

His ability to mold the Pacers into one of the top franchises, while continually keeping the team competitive, earned him recognition in the 2000-01 season from Bloomberg News Service as the NBA's top basketball executive in a vote of the league's coaches.

Walsh's track record speaks for itself.

The 1999-2000 season was one of the more interesting, yet impressive, trips to the postseason. In June, the Pacers traded veteran Antonio Davis to Toronto for the draft rights to a talented high school player, Jonathan Bender, the fifth overall pick in the NBA Draft. Many predicted the Pacers to not only finish low in the Eastern Conference, but in the bottom half of the Central Division.

At season's end, the Pacers had not only won the Central for the second straight year, but for the first time in franchise history had compiled the best outright record in the Eastern Conference at 56-26. That mark was also the Pacers' second-best overall record (58-24 in 1997-98) in the team's NBA history. The Pacers also tied a league-best (with the L.A. Lakers) 36-5 record at home that included a 25-game home winning streak, both franchise records.

In the playoffs, the Pacers beat Milwaukee and Philadelphia before meeting their old nemesis, the New York Knicks, in the Eastern Conference Finals. But there, the Pacers won their first-ever Eastern Conference Championship in six games and advanced to the NBA Finals for the first time. There, they fell to the Los Angeles Lakers in six games for the world championship.

It is interesting to note that four years later, under Walsh's guidance, the Pacers have already returned to the elite of the league. Under new coach Rick Carlisle, the 2003-04 Pacers won the Central Division, compiled the best record in the NBA (61-21) and set franchise records for road wins in the NBA (27), total victories and winning percentage (.744).

"My personal goal for the Pacers' franchise was to always be included in the great tradition of Indiana basketball with both high school and college," said Walsh, "Our reaching the NBA Finals and reaching the Conference Finals five out of seven years is a point of excellence that I think puts us in that category of Indiana basketball and reflects well on the basketball in this state. I think we're now firmly part of that mix and I feel good about that. But the ultimate goal is still to win a championship."

Off the court, Walsh oversaw another building process. As the Pacers headed toward the next century, the need for a new arena in downtown Indianapolis was becoming more and more evident. In 1994, after the Pacers reached the Eastern Conference Finals for the first time, he began quiet discussions with city leaders.

On July 22, 1997, ground was broken.

Today, 18,345-seat Conseco Fieldhouse fits neatly into place in downtown Indianapolis, the NBA, and with Indiana's rich basketball tradition for a very unique trifecta. The retro-style, multipurpose facility has drawn rave reviews for its blending of the modern amenities - such as suites and club seats - with attention to the basketball heritage of Indiana and ensuring that all fans are at home in what is truly a basketball house. It is a basketball destination and a tourist attraction.

In the 1999-2000 season and postseason, the Pacers sold out every game in the Fieldhouse, the first time that had been done in franchise history. In that season, the only other NBA teams to sell out every home game were the Chicago Bulls and New York Knicks.

"I think it culminates all of our dreams for the Pacers, but I think it also encompasses everything that is Indiana basketbell to me," said Walsh. "That was our goal when we started this and I'm talking about when we started back in 1986 to build a team. We wanted the team to be a part of the tradition of Indiana basketball, which it really hadn't been up until that point in the NBA. It has been a long process over many years, but I think it culminates with Conseco Fieldhouse because it kind of embodies it."

On both counts of building the Pacers and Conseco Fieldhouse, it took a believer. Walsh fits that mold perfectly.

In 1986, the Pacers were struggling. They had lost two key players, Clark Kellogg and Steve Stipanovich, to career-ending knee injuries. But Walsh, rarely taking a day off in his 17 years on the job, believed he could turn the franchise around. And he has Starting with his first draft, Walsh took Chuck Person, who went on to become Rookie of the Year. Person, with Detlef Schrempf, acquired by Walsh in a trade, and a young gun named Reggie Miller who was drafted by Walsh, led the Pacers to the first of many memorable playoff series, a five-game loss to Larry Bird and the Boston Celtics in 1991.

In 1993, Walsh hired Brown as coach and in 1994 they reached the Eastern Conference Finals before losing to New York in seven games. In 1995, the Pacers again reached the East Finals (losing to Orlando), but they had their first 50-win NBA season and won their first NBA barrier, the Central Division championship.

The 1996 playoff run was cut short by Atlanta in the first round, but Miller missed the first four games of that series with an eye injury. In 1997, the Pacers slipped to 39-43 and didn't make the playoffs for the first time in seven seasons, due to injuries to Rik Smits, Derrick McKey and key backup, Haywoode Workman. Brown resigned in April, but Walsh - thinking ahead as always had a high-profile replacement ready, the legendary Bird.

The Pacers finished the 1997-98 season with an NBA team record 58 victories and their 58-24 record provided a 707 winning percentage, the best in franchise history. They also went the last 63 games of the regular season without losing two straight games. Also that season, the Pacers compiled the best record in the East at the All-Star break, earning the coaching staff of Bird and assistants Dick Harter and Rick Carlisle, All-Star coaching honors. They were joined in New York by Miller and Smits, at that time only the second time in team history the Pacers had two NBA All-Stars. Bird eventually was named Coach of the Year and the Pacers extended the eventual World Champion Chicago Bulls to seven games before losing in the Eastern Conference Finals,

Then, in 1998-99, the Pacers tied for the best record in the Eastern Conference (33-17), won their second Central Division championship and their winning percentage of .660 was the second-highest in their NBA history. After the NBA Finals, Walsh again was faced with a reconstruction project. With Smits retiring, Walsh began to re-tool the Pacers so that they could remain competitive, yet with an eye toward another long playoff run, and possible championship, in the near future.

In the summer of 2000, he acquired Jermaine O'Neal, who has since become a two-time NBA All-Star, the 2002 NBA's Most Improved Player and a regular member of USA Men's Senior Team that participates in international competition, And the Pacers, Linder Thomas, reached the playoffs three straight years, winning 41, 42 and 48 games. Now, Walsh is putting a different stamp on the franchise, having named Bird as President of Basketball Operations to take the learn into the next era.

With Conseco Fieldhouse rising in the Indianapolis skyline, Walsh has seen two projects reach prominence and he wants them to stay there.

"Looking back at it, I'm glad we've been able to get the team to the point where it is," he said, "There's great satisfaction in doing that. As for Conseco Fieldhouse, I get the feeling of accomplishment in the sense that after being here for so many years, if I have a part in this building it's that it is something permanent I can look back on and think, 'Well, I had something to do with that.'

The 63-year-old (3/1/41) Walsh has also seen fan appreciation rise during his tenure. Attendance in Market Square Arena was the highest in franchise history the last 12 seasons before the record-breaking move to the Fieldhouse, capped by 1995-96 in which the Pacers had a record average of 16,438, that Included 29 sellouts and a season-ending run of 13 straight sellouts. In 1997-98, fans filled MSA to 96 percent of its capacity and in its last season an average of 16,182 (98 percent capacity) visited MSA. In 25 home dates in the 1998-99 season, the Pacers had 15 sellouts.

Walsh, who in 1988 was named president of the Pacers Basketball Corporation (now Pacers Sports & Entertainment which runs the Pacers, the WNBA's Indiana Fever, the Pacers Foundation and also directs the management of Conseco Fieldhouse), has spent his life in and around basketball.

An outstanding high school player in New York City, Walsh played at North Carolina under Frank McGuire and Dean Smith. After graduating with a bachelor of arts degree in political science, Walsh attended the North Carolina Law School and helped coach the Tar Heels' freshman team for two seasons.

After graduating from law school and turning down offers from then former Vice President Richard Nixon's law firm in New York City and the U.S. Justice Department's Honors programs, he took a graduate coaching position under Smith at North Carolina and then became an associate head coach under McGuire al South Carolina. In 1977, Walsh was about to enter private law practice in South Carolina, but Brown, the head coach of the Denver Nuggets, asked Walsh to join him as an assistant. Walsh stayed with the Nuggets as an assistant coach and a head coach before entering private business in 1982.

But in 1984, Walsh was back in basketball as a Pacers' assistant to George Irvine. He remained on the bench until becoming general manager two years later. He has since been a member of the U.S. Olympic Games Committee for men's basketball for Dream Teams I and II.

Walsh's knowledge, professionalism, accessibility and courtesy are highly-recognized throughout the NBA by players, coaches, front office personnel and the media. He is also a respected member of the Indianapolis community, serving on the boards of many charities.

He and his wife, Judy, both natives of New York, have five children and live in Indianapolis. They also have two dogs, Murph and Belle.

President of Basketball Operations

LARRY BIRD

PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Throughout his life, Larry Bird has faced those who doubted him. They were mismatched.

Doubted as a player, Bird became a high school All-Star, college Player of the Year, 12-time NBA All-Star and three-time NBA MVP. Doubted as a coach, Bird compiled a 147-67 record in three seasons as coach of the Pacers, winning Coach of the Year honors in 1998 and leading the team to its first ever NBA Finals appearance in 2000.

Now, Bird has taken on a new challenge and more doubters. On July 11, 2003, Pacers' CEO/President Donnie Walsh named Bird the team's President of Basketball Operations. Shortly after the announcement, there was some skepticism if Bird could handle the day-to-day pressures and responsibilities of the front office job. Would he grow bored? Would he be able to deal with not having total hands-on with a team like he did as a player or coach?

"I can assure you," said Bird, "that I'll be the best I possibly can."

Those who know Bird's competitive fire will tell you he will succeed at that.

In his new role with the Pacers, Bird oversees the basketball operations of the franchise, from the coaches to budgeting to player personnel to scouting to contract negotiations to training. He relishes the opportunity.

"it's new, that's the biggest challenge," Bird said. "This will bring me full circle, as a player, as a coach and as a head of basketball operations. I know it's going to be tough. I think I know how to do most of it, but Donnie is going to be right beside me.

Last summer, they lapped Rick Carlisle to replace Isiah Thomas as head coach, Carlisle, a former assistant with Bird when he was coach of the Pacers, was Bird's obvious, and first, choice to step in.

In Bird's first year as coach, the Pacers nearly got to his bottom line. For the third time in the previous five seasons, the Pacers reached Game 7 of the Eastern Conference Finals, this time extending the World Champion Chicago Bulls. Coming into the playoffs, the Pacers not only made the NBA pay attention, they made franchise history. They had 58 victories, the most since joining the NBA in 1976; their 707 winning percentage was the best in the Pacers' history, including their storied ABA days; they were 26-15 on the road, a franchise NBA best and had the best road record of any Eastern Conference team.

The next season, the Pacers won the Central Division and reached the Eastern Conference Finals. In 2000, another Central Division championship and the trip to the NBA Finals.

Walsh, who will work side-by-side with Bird, couldn't be happier with his choice to take the Pacers from this point forward.

"I'm really happy to have Larry back where he belongs and I think this is going to be the beginning of a new era in Pacers basketball," said Walsh. "I think he is the perfect person to be here in Indiana, to take this team forward for the long haul, It has always been my dream, that when I gave up my job that there's a guy in place who can take this franchise and keep it at a very high level. And I think Larry can do that."

Born Dec. 7, 1956, in West Baden, Ind., Bird became and remains a Hoosier basketball legend. He was an Indiana High School All-Star after playing for Springs Valley. He then played collegiately at Indiana State University, where in 1979 Bird was the college Player of the Year while leading the Sycamores to an undefeated season and the NCAA championship game. There, ISU met Michigan State and Bird met Magic Johnson. The Sycamores lost, but a rivalry of excellence between Bird and Johnson was established that would carry into and through their NBA years.

What Bird accomplished in his 13-year NBA career ranks him with the game's all-time greats: he helped the Boston Celtics to three NBA Championships; he was the league's MVP three straight years; he was the Rookie of the Year in 1980; he was twice an NBA Finats MVP; he was a nine-time all-NBA First Team selection; he was selected as an NBA All-Star 12 times, earning one All-Star Game MVP award; and he was a member of the 1992 gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic basket-ball Dream Team.

After retiring and serving as a consultant to the Cettics, Bird's competitive edge and desire to win began to work on him. "I wanted to be involved," Bird said. "I wanted to be out there being competitive every night. I'm too old to play, so the only option I had was to coach."

For the Pacers, the timing was right. There was no place like home.

"This is my home state, this is the place I wanted to do it," Bird said at the time. "I just want to win basketball games. (want to help the Pacers get to the places they've never been before."

Now, he's back to try if again.

Bird is married to Dinah, He has three children, Cornie, Connor and Mariah. He is an avid golfer and outdoorsman, while enjoying country music and auto racing.

Chief Operating Officer/General Manager

KELLY KRAUSKOPF

CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER/GENERAL MANAGER

Kelly Krauskopf begins her fifth season as the Fever's Chief Operating Officer and her first as the team's General Manager. She assumed general manager dutles in the fall, working in conjunction with the Fever coaching staff while managing the team's player personnel decisions.

Since 1999, Krauskopf has been the guiding force of the Fever from building the team roster to building a fan base for Indiana's Women's National Basketball Association franchise. In her role with the Fever, Krauskopf oversees all aspects of the team operation.

Since moving to Indianapolis and beginning the task of building a WNBA franchise. Krauskopf has engineered numerous player moves enabling the Fever to improve the team - among them, a mid-season move during the 2002 campaign which brought veteran guard Coquese Washington to the Fever to ignite a late run to the franchise's first appearance in the WNBA Playoffs.

Krauskopf engineered other personnel moves including a trade prior to the 2003 season that brought three-time WNBA All-Star center Natalie Williams and top rookie guard Coretta Brown to the Fever. The cornerstone of the franchise was solidified by the draft selection of Tamika Catchings in the 2001 WNBA Draft. The third overall selection in the 2001 Draft, Catchings has gone on to be named Rookie of the Year in 2002 and twice as a WNBA All-Star and First Team All-WNBA selection. Also, in 2001 Krauskopf acquired three-time WNBA All-Star veteran Nikki McCray to add experience to the team.

During the 2003-04 offseason, she orchestrated a trade to bring sharpshooter Kelly Miller to the Fever. With Miller, former Cleveland starter Deanna Jackson (dispersal draft) and Ebony Hoffman - Indiana's 2004 first-round draft selection - Indiana opens its 2004 training camp with six current or former first-round draft picks on its roster, all since 2001.

Off the basketball court, Krauskopf has built another type of team comprised of community leaders and businesswomen called the Fever Advisory Team. The Advisory Team serves as a resource to the franchise in areas of corporate sponsorship development, ticket sales, community initiatives and fund raising for the Fever Fund of the Pacers Foundation.

Since 1996, Krauskopf has been in the forefront of the development of the WNBA. In September 1996, she was named the WNBA's first Director of Basketball Operations. In that role, she was involved in all phases of the league's start-up operation and initiatives. She also developed the league's first set of playing rules, officiating policies, scheduling and other league standards, while working daily with WNBA team general managers and operations personnel.

Before joining the WNBA, Krauskopf was the Managing Director of League Development for Media Sports Partnership, Limited in Dallas, Tex. In that capacity, her responsibilities included researching and analyzing the feasibility of a women's professional basketball league and developing a league business plan and marketing strategy.

From 1990 to 1994, she was Assistant Commissioner for the Southwest Conference. In addition to overseeing league marketing, she was the chief administrator for all eight women's sports programs in the conference. She served from 1986 to 1990 as Texas A&M's Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports/Marketing.

Krauskopf has previously served on committees for the Women's Sports Foundation; the Women's Basketball Coaches Association; Citizenship for Sports Alliance and Texas A&M's Lettermen's Association Board of Directors,

A 1983 graduate of Texas A&M University with a bachelor of arts degree in journalism, she was a three-year letterwinner in basketball for the Lady Aggles after transferring from Stephen F. Austin University where she played her freshman year under legendary coach Sue Gunter.

Fever Staff

LORI SATTERFIELD

DIRECTOR OF BUSINESS & COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

Lori Satterfield begins this season with the Fever in an expanded role as the franchise's director of business and community partnerships. In addition to her work along-side Pacers Sports & Entertainment's corporate sales staff, she spearheads the Fever's local efforts in securing small business sponsorships and ticket sales. She also assists the Kelly Krauskopf with day-to-day business activities, while overseeing the team's overall community relations' activities.

Satterfield joined the Fever in October 1999 as the Fever's director of community relations where she was responsible for all daily aspects of the team's programs and fan services including autographs, donations, appearances, and fan mail. She coordinated the involvement of the coaches and players in the community and conducted basketball clinics and seminars pertaining to WNBA league initiatives.

Before joining the Fever, Satterfield was the manager of corporate marketing for the National Collegiate Athletic Association. She was responsible for overseeing all marketing aspects of several NCAA corporate partnerships - including Hershey, American Express, Duracell, KFC, Champion International and Taco Bell.

Before her work experience at the NCAA, the Indianapolis native held broadcasting and advertising positions with the Los Angeles Sparks of the WNBA and the Indiana Pacers of the NBA. Her responsibilities included the production of formats for radio and television broadcasts, the creation and development of radio and television promotions and maintenance of video game-footage highlights.

Satterfield earned a master's degree in business administration from Pepperdine University's Graziadio School of Business and a bachelor of arts degree in radio/television from Southern Methodist University.

KEVIN MESSENGER

DIRECTOR OF MEDIA RELATIONS

Kevin Messenger begins his second year as the Fever's director of media relations, responsible for all duties related to the team's publicity, media operations and public information.

A native of Denver, Colo., Messenger attended the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., before embarking on a 17-year professional career which has included collegiate stints at UNLV, Indiana State, Pacific and Maryland. Most recently, he worked with the Maryland football and women's basketball teams in 1998 and 1999 before directing media efforts for three seasons with the Terrapins' nationally prominent men's basketball program.

While at Maryland, he worked in a media market comprising the Baltimore and Washington, D.C. metro areas - the largest media concentration of its kind among U.S. colleges. He twice attended the Final Four with the Terrapins' basketball team while working daily with local, regional and national media outlets.

A collegiate sports information director dating to his college years in California, Messenger has worked with baseball, basketball, football, golf, soccer, water polo and volleyball teams during his career, He boasts distinction as having been a part of three NCAA championship teams - 1985 and 1986 Pacific women's volleyball, and 2002 Maryland men's basketball.

This is Messenger's second career stop in Indianapolis, having spent three years in Indy from 1995 to 1998, working with U.S. Water Polo and a professional indoor soccer franchise, the Indiana Twisters, before making a return to college athletics.

Messenger received a bachelor's degree in communications from UOP in 1987. His professional career began as an assistant sports information director at UNLV in summer of 1987. He was hired as the SID at Indiana State University in 1989, and made a return to his alma mater for a four-year stint as SID from 1991-95.

Fever Staff

DAN GAINES MANAGER OF COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The newest member of the Fever front office staff, Dan Gaines handles all day-to-day community efforts as the team's manager of community relations. A Fever intern during Indiana's inaugural season in 2000, he took over his new duties in December 2003. His daily responsibilities include scheduling for all player appearances in the Indianapolis community and all fan services - including autographs, donations, appearances, and fan mail.

A native of Greenfield, Ind., Gaines graduated from Purdue in 1999 with a bachelor's degree in exercise science. He was a learn manager for the Boilermakers' 1995-96 Big Ten Conference men's basketball champions.

Including a thesis on the Fever, Gaines completed a master's degree in sports management at Purdue in 2001, and since that time his career has been mixed with sports, journalism and public relations.

Directly out of college, Gaines was the sports editor of The New Palestine Press, from 2001-02. He was an assistant coach for boy's basketball at Greenfield Central High School during those years, while working with media and publications at the Indianapolis Speedrome. During the same span, he was a sports marketing intern for Impact Sports - the sports marketing company that managed the charity foundations of National Football League stars Marshall Faulk and Torry Holt.

Gaines ventured to Colorado in spring 2003 where he served a brief stint as the assistant editor and sports editor for the Air Force Academy newspaper, Academy Spirit. While in Colorado Springs, he accepted a position at the Olympic Training Center as sports program manager with the United States Taekwondo Union, where he served as a point of contact and coordinator for over 4,000 coaches and referees nationwide, at all levels of the sport including Olympic competition.

Senior Vice Presidents / Pacers Sports & Entertainment

RICK FUSON

EXECUTIVE SR. VICE PRESIDENT/ EXEC. DIRECTOR OF CONSECO FIELDHOUSE

Since joining the Pacers' organization in 1984, Rick Fuson, 50, has been instrumental in shaping events within Market Square Arena, Conseco Fieldhouse and many other events elsewhere in Indianapolis.

A graduate of Indiana University and a life-long resident of Indianapolis, he joined the staff of Market Square Arena in 1984 as director of special events and was promoted the following year to vice president. Fuson helped oversee the Pacers' move to Conseco Fieldhouse in September 2000 and was promoted to Executive Senior Vice President of Pacers Sports & Entertainment in November 2001. In his current role, Fuson is responsible for execution of all aspects of the business side of Pacers Sports & Entertainment in addition to his role as Executive Director of Conseco Fieldhouse.

Through the years, Fuson has been active in pursuing major events for Conseco Fieldhouse and the City of Indianapolis. In the past, he was a member of the Executive Committee for the 1991 World Gymnastics Championships and served as chairman for the opening ceremonies. He was co-chairman of special events for the 1991, 1997 and 2000 NCAA Final Fours. He produced the opening ceremonies of the 2001 World Police & Fire Games and the closing ceremonies of the Pan American Games in 1987. Fuson also served on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2002 and 2004 Big Ten Basketball Championships and 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships. He currently serves on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2004 World Swimming Championships. He will serve on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2004 World Swimming Championships. He will serve on the Local Organizing Committee for the 2005 NCAA Women's Final Four.

Throughout his career, he has received such honors as Recipient of the Indianapolis Ambassadors 1988 Community Service Award, Indianapolis Business Journal's "Who's Who in Hospitality," "Who's Who in Sports" and "Forty Under Forty." He has also been active with the Indianapolis Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the 1985 NBA All-Star weekend, the grand opening of the Indianapolis Zoo in 1988, the White River Park State Games and Indianapolis Downtown Space 2010.

Fuson is a professional member of the International Association of Assembly Managers. He currently serves on the Board of Directors for Indianapolis Downtown, Inc. and The 500 Festival. He also is a member of the executive committee of the Indiana Sports Corporation, I.A.T.S.E. Local #30 Health and Welfare Fund and Pacers Foundation.

He is married to 1988 Olympic Gymnast Kelly Garrison and has three children, Amy, Emily and Matthew.

KEVIN BOWER

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/FINANCE/ CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Kevin Bower is in his third year with Pacers Sports & Entertainment as the organization's Senior Vice President of Finance and Chief Financial Officer.

Bower came to PS&E in January 2002 from Jarden Corporation, a publicly traded manufacturer and distributor of niche consumer products and a variety of other materials based products including injection molded and thermoformed plastic parts, zinc strip and fabricated parts including coin blanks. He spent nine years at Jarden and most recently served as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.

Bower started his career in 1980 with Schneider & Shuster, a locally-based public accounting firm in Denver, Colo. After five years in Denver he returned to Indiana where he continued his career in public accounting with Price Waterhouse.

Bower, 45, was born in Fort Wayne, Ind., and grew up in South Bend, Ind. He attended Bentley College in Wallham, Mass., on a basketball scholarship and graduated with a bachelor's of science degree in accounting. He is married to Maureen and they have three children, Erin, Megan and Kevin, Bower is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Indiana CPA Society. He serves on the Board of Directors of Pathway Family Center and the St.Vincent Foundation Finance Committee. In his spare time, he is a volunteer basketball coach and enjoys golf and traveling.

Senior Vice Presidents / Pacers Sports & Entertainment

LARRY MAGO

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/ MARKETING

Larry Mago is in his second year as the Senior Vice President of Marketing, after spending three years as Pacers Sports & Entertainment's Vice President of Entertainment.

Mago joined the Pacers in 1985 as General Manager of the Pacers' Network Indiana, a 50-station statewide radio network. In 1988.

Mago assumed the title of Broadcast Production Director. As the director, he produced Pacers television and radio and coordinated the production services for all the television coverage of NBA and WNBA games.

His experience with the Pacers has included directing live Pacers' coverage of the 1995 preseason in Germany and Spain, directing the 1992 NBA Finals World Feed, and this past summer he was the Executive Producer of the Host Broadcast of the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championship held in Indianapolis. He was also a charter member of the NBA Broadcast Advisory Board.

Mago started his career as an on-air broadcaster for several radio stations, including the Pacers' Flagship station, 1070 WIBC. At WIBC, Mago served the capacity of program manager and helped establish the first Indianapolis Colts network.

A native of suburban New York City, he graduated from Butler University in 1979. He currently resides in Indianapolis and has one daughter, Emily.

DAVID MORWAY

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT/ PACERS BASKETBALL

David Morway is in his sixth season with Pacers Sports & Entertainment, having joined the franchise in February 1999. As Sr. Vice President of Basketball Administration, Morway's responsibilities include the overseeing of pro, college and international scouting, as well the administration of the Pacers' basketball department.

The 44-year-old Morway has a vast sports background. He served as Assistant to the President for the San Diego Padres from 1985-88, where he was involved in contract analysis and negotiation. He also designed and implemented programs in player relations, team employee assistance and customer relations.

From 1988-95, Morway started and was president of Professional Excellence in Sports, Inc. (Pro Ex), a sports management firm, Morway represented more than 75 clients, including David Benoit, former first-round pick Ed Gray, former Pacers' player Micheal Williams, Junior Seau, Darren Woodson, Chris Naeole and Tony Clark.

Pro Ex was incorporated into DSM international in 1995 and Morway remained with the company until 1998.

A 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona, Morway also has a law degree from the University of San Diego. He is married to Karen and they have two sons, Robbie and Michael.

Coaching Staff

BRIAN WINTERS

HEAD COACH

Formally announced as head coach of the Indiana Fever on Dec. 11, 2003, Brian Winters plies his trade this season in a new city, though not without familiar faces. It is his first coaching position in the Women's National Basketball Association, after compiling 24 years of NBA experience as a player, assistant coach or head coach. Winters, a former head coach of the Vancouland ver Grizzlies and the Golden State Warriors, assumes head coaching duties vacated last September by Nell Fortner.

"Brian brings a great deal of knowledge and experience to our franchise," said Fever Chief Operating Officer Kelly Krauskopf. "Not only was he a tremendous player, he also has coached alongside some of the most respected coaches in the game."

She added, "As I spoke to people around the league who either knew Brian personally or worked with him, they couldn't say enough about his integrity and character. He will represent our franchise and this city in a very positive manner."

Winters began his coaching career as a college assistant at Princeton under legendary Pete Carril before leaving for nine pro seasons in Cleveland (1986-93) and Atlanta (1993-95) as an assistant to Lenny Wilkens, the winningest coach in NBA history.

As a player, Winters was a college All-American at South Carolina under Frank McGuire and associate head coach Donnie Walsh, now the CEO and President of Pacers Sports & Entertainment. A first-round draft pick of the Los Angeles Lakers in 1974, he began his pro playing career under coach Bill Sharman before playing eight years with the Bucks under Larry Costello and Don Nelson.

Mentors Carril, McGuire, Sharman and Wilkens all are members of the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame.

The Queens, N.Y., native began his own head coaching resume in 1995, when he was chosen to guide the NBA's expansion Vancouver Grizzlies. He was an assistant with the Denver Nuggets for one season before landing at Golden State as an assistant coach midway through the 1999-00 campaign under Garry St. Jean. Two years later, he was named the Warriors' head coach in December 2001.

One of the greatest sharpshooters of his era, Winters was an NBA All-Star during his first year with the Bucks - after arriving in Milwaukee for the 1976 season as one of four players exchanged with the Lakers for Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. After an all-rookie season with the Lakers in 1975 and his first all-star appearance a year later, Winters was named an all-star again in 1978. In all, he spent eight seasons in Milwaukee, leading the Bucks to six postseason berths. One of the leading play-makers and shooters in Bucks history, he still is third in franchise assists (2,479), fifth in games played (582) and steals (718), and seventh in scoring (9,743). He averaged 16.7 points during his eight seasons in Milwaukee, and 16.2 over a nine-year career.

Upon retiring in 1983, he became then just the third (now one of seven) Bucks players to have his number retired, raising his No. 32 on Oct. 28, 1983, in a Milwaukee win over Indiana.

It is in Indiana, coincidentally, where he renews an association with one of his Fever stars. The relationship dates to his time as a Milwaukee player when he first met Tamika Catchings as an infant. Harvey, her father, was traded to the Bucks prior to the 1979-80 season. Tamika, a two-time WNBA All-Star and the WNBA Rookie of the Year in 2002, was born in July 1979, and her father played alongside Winters for four more seasons.

Winters and his wife, Julie, have three daughters and three sons: Cara (22), Brendan (21), Kevin (19), Keelin (15), Meghan (13) and Ryan (12). Cara is a 2004 graduate of Santa Clara University. Winters' oldest son, Brendan, just completed his sophomore year at Davidson University where he was the Wildcats' leading scorer in basketball and selected first-team all-league in the Southern Conference. Kevin will enroll as a freshman at the University of Colorado in the fall of 2004.

Assistant Coaches

JULIE PLANK ASSISTANT COACH

Julie Plank is in her fifth season with the Indiana Fever as an assistant coach and director of scouting.

Prior to joining the Fever, Plank assisted with the USA Women's National Team, and continued with the team by joining former Fever coach Nell Fortner (then the U.S. Olympic Coach), as an assistant at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia.

From 1997-99, Plank, an 18-year coaching veteran, served as an associate head coach at Vanderbilt University where she directed the school's recruiting and scouting efforts and acted as the lead assistant during games.

At Vanderbilt, Women's Basketball Journal ranked her as the fifth-best NCAA Division I assistant coach in the nation in 1998. Plank joined the Commodores' staff after spending 10 years (1986-95) on the sidelines at Stanford University as an assistant to 1996 gold medal-winning Olympic head coach Tara Van-Derveer. Reunited with her collegiate head mentor, she helped direct the Cardinal to eight consecutive NCAA Tournaments (1988-95), four Final Four appearances (1990-92, 1995) and two NCAA championships (1990, 1992). While helping Stanford to a 251-62 (.802) overall record, Plank's duties included overseeing the Cardinal's scheduling, scouting and conditioning efforts, in addition to working closely with the development of the team's guards.

Plank began her assistant coaching career at Capital University (Ohio) in 1984, where she spent two years as an assistant, helping Capital to a 38-9 record (.809), Overall, she has helped three different schools to a 343-104 record (.767).

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Plank played four years at Ohio State University. She attended Bishop Hartley High School and led her team to two Ohio state high school championships. In February 2001, the school retired her No. 13 jersey in honor of her accomplishments.

LIN DUNN

ASSISTANT COACH

Former Purdue University and Seattle Storm Head Coach Lin Dunn is in her first year as an assistant coach with the Indiana Fever. Dunn, who last coached with the Storm for three seasons from 2000-02, has served in a scouting capacity with the Fever since the beginning of the 2003 season.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for me," added Dunn who, ironically, recorded her 500th coaching victory when her Storm defeated the Fever at Conseco Fieldhouse, 74-71 in overtime, on June 4, 2001,

One of the most highly respected collegiate and professional coaches in women's basketball, Dunn's coaching career is in its fourth decade and spans 525 victories (525-350 overall record).

Before joining the Fever last season, Dunn served as both the head coach and general manager in Seattle, operating the city's expansion franchise since it was awarded by the WNBA in the summer of 1999. She built the Storm that is anchored by 2002 NCAA Player of the Year Sue Bird and eventual league MVP Lauren Jackson. Seattle went 17-15 and reached the WNBA Playoffs for the first time in 2002. Dunn ended her tenure in Seattle with a 33-63 record.

She was 447-257 in 25 seasons as a college head coach, and also served on USA Basketball staffs for the 1992 Olympics and 1990 gold medal-winning World Championship and Goodwill Games teams,

A native of Dresden, Tenn., Dunn guided Purdue to three Big Ten titles and seven NCAA Tournament appearances during a nine-year stay that began in 1987-88. After two trips to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen, Dunn paced the Boilermakers to a 29-5 record in 1993-94, and reached the Final Four. She coached three All-Americans at Purdue, and her scouling prowess extended even beyond her tenure in West Lafayette. Before taking her first opportunity as a professional head coach, Dunn was responsible for recruiting and signing such stars as Summer Erb, Ukari Figgs, Michele VanGorp and the Fever's Stephanie White - current or former stars in the WNBA.

Dunn was a college head coach for a quarter of a century combining stints at Austin Peay, Mississippi, Miami and Purdue — before accepting her first assignment in professional basketball. After taking over the coaching reigns of the American Basketball League's Portland Power midway through its inaugural campaign in 1996-97, Dunn led the Power to a 27-17 record and a conference championship the following year. The remarkable turnaround earned Dunn the ABL Coach of the Year honor while star forward and current Fever All-Star Natalie Williams earned the league's MVP award. Portland was in first place at 9-4 when the ABL ceased operations in 1998.

She is a 1969 graduate of the University of Tennessee-Martin.

Training Staff

HOLLY HEITZMAN-ALLISON

ATHLETIC TRAINER

Holly Heitzman-Allison is in her fifth season as athletic trainer of the Indiana Fever.

Working fulltime at the St.Vincent Sports Medicine Center, Heitzman-Allison has been with the Fever since the team's inaugural season. Heitzman-Allison has worked at the clinic for the past 10 years, serving as an athletic trainer. clinic director, and most recently, sports medicine coordinator.

She brings over 18 years of applied athletic training experience working with athletes ranging from high school level through the professional ranks.

The Cincinnati native completed her undergraduate degree at Eastern Kentucky University, and her masters of science degree at Syracuse University. These universities are known to have two the most highly regarded athletic training programs in the nation.

Prior to moving to Indianapolis, she worked in sports medicine clinics and with amateur and professional teams in San Diego, Calif., and New York State.

Heitzman-Allison and her husband, Dan, live in Indianapolis.

CHAD ODAFFER

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COACH

Chad Odaffer begins his first season with the Indiana Fever, serving as the team's strength & conditioning coach.

Currently certified by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a strength and conditioning specialist, he designs, supervises and administers strength, speed, power and agility programs for hundreds of athletes each year at the National Institute for Fitness and Sport, where he is a strength and conditioning coach and a personal trainer.

Odaffer graduated from University of Louisville in 2001 with a degree in exercise science and sports medicine, and received a master's degree in exercise physiology in 2003. While at Louisville, Odaffer was a graduate assistant to the strength and conditioning staff.

He and his wife, Tina, reside in Indianapolis.

2003 Recap

The Indiana Fever successfully completed its fourth season in the Women's National Basketball Association in 2003, taking a playoff run to the final game of the regular season for the second straight year.

Unlike its first playoff season in 2002 however, the Fever fell to Connecticut in the season's final game to miss a second straight playoff appearance, Indiana finished with a 16-18 record that was highlighted by numerous firsts and high points. Those highlights include:

- The Fever home opener marked the first official sellout (18,345) in franchise history. The Fever downed Washington 71-60 in a nationally-televised game on ABC-TV.
- By winning its first eight home games of 2003, the Fever amassed a record 13-game home court win streak - the third-longest home streak in WNBA history. Among the wins was a 20-point blowout over New York and a 31-point rout of eventual league champion Detroit.
- Indiana's first trip to the Mohegan Sun Arena in Connecticut resulted in a 94-90 double overtime victory, which ended with the most points scored in Fever history.
- For the first time in franchise history, Indiana placed two players in the WNBA All-Star Game, with Tamika Catchings as a starter for the second straight season and Natalie Williams chosen as an Eastern Conference reserve. Catchings, the East's leading vote-getter in fan balloting and the second-leading vote-getter overall, was the game's leading scorer (17), while Williams ended as the game's leading rebounder (11).
- Indiana raced to its largest victory margin in history with an 81-54 win over San Antonio on July 23.
- Catchings became the second-fastest player in WNBA history to reach 1,000 points when she hit a running layup against Minnesota at Conseco Fieldhouse, with 8:13 remaining in the first half on July 26.
- Another Indiana first came on July 24 and July 29 while beating Washington twice in five days - both on the road.
- Williams tied a franchise record with 17 rebounds and became the second player in U.S. women's professional basketball history to eclipse 4,000 points as the Fever beat Charlotte, 69-63.

- Facing elimination in a five-team race for the playoffs, Indiana did what it had never done before - beat New York at Madison Square Garden on Aug. 22.
- One night after the win in N.Y., the Fever's second-largest crowd of the season packed Conseco Fieldhouse on August 23 as Indiana recorded a 59-46 victory over Cleveland, before 13,093 fans. The win was Indiana's franchise-record 11th home win of the season.
- For the second year-in-a-row, Catchings was named to the All-WNBA First Team. Catchings was the runner-up for the league's MVP and Defensive Player of the Year balloting.
 For the second straight season, she led the Fever in points (19.7), rebounds (8.0), assists (3.4) and blocks (1.0); and for the second time in as many years, she was the only WNBA player to lead her team in each category.
- Catchings was one of five WNBA players featured on a Multi-Grain Cheerios box that was distributed in August.
 Catchings became the first professional athlete ever to wear an Indiana uniform on a national brand cereal box.
- Williams, completing her first season in Indiana, brought some national attention to the Fever when she outdueled a one-on-one competitor from ESPN's reality TV series "Beg, Borrow & Deal." Filmed in May the segment aired in early August.

JUNE 7, 1999

Indiana, Miami, Portland and Seattle are awarded with WNBA expansion franchises, to begin play in 2000.

JUNE 25, 1999

Sold its 1,000th season ticket to Dorothy Mengering, the mother of late-night talk show host David Letterman.

JULY 22, 1999

Hired Kelly Krauskopf as the team's first Chief Operating Officer. Krauskopf becomes the highest-ranking female front office executive at any of the city's professional sports franchises.

JULY 30, 1999

Sold its 2,000th season ticket to Indianapolis 500 veteran racecar driver Lyn St. James. "When the WNBA was initially launched in 1997, I was actually surprised that Indianapolis, with its tremendous basketball tradition and the support that surrounds basketball here, was not one of the cities on the list," St. James said. "I am certainly pleased to see that Indianapolis has now been awarded a franchise and I am confident that the team will be embraced by the loyal basketball fans in Indiana."

AUGUST 13, 1999

Sold its 3,000th season ticket to San Diego Padres' All-Star outfielder Tony Gwynn, just days after he became the 22nd player in Major League Baseball history to reach the 3,000-hit plateau. "I was glad to hear that Indiana was awarded a franchise," Gwynn said, who has a home in Indianapolis. "I have seen first hand how kids look up to professional athletes. My wife and I are looking forward to the opportunity for our kids to watch these WNBA players, who are not only great athletes, but great role models."

AUGUST 17, 1999

Named Nell Fortner as the team's first head coach and general manager. Already committed to the U.S. women's national team through the 2000 Olympic Games, Fortner is scheduled to join the team in 2001, following her Olympic commitment.

AUGUST 27, 1999

Sold its 4,500th season ticket to Grammy Award-winning recording artist and Anderson native Sandi Patty. "I have come to love and respect women's sports, and I think this is a wonderful opportunity for Indianapolis and the State of Indiana," Patty said. The team also announces its 2000 individual game ticket prices at a press conference at Market Square Arena, The average ticket price to attend a WNBA game at Conseco Fieldhouse will be $13, with prices ranging from $5 to $85.

SEPTEMBER 23, 1999

Sold the team's 5,000th season ticket to Indiana Pacers Head Coach Larry Bird. "I think Indiana's WNBA franchise will be a huge success and I'm happy to be a part of helping to ensure that success," Bird said. "Indiana fans love their basketball and I think they will embrace the WNBA team and the high quality of play it will bring to Indiana," Bird said.

OCTOBER 1, 1999

Sold its 5,500th season ticket to former U.S. Senator Birch Bayh, enabling the franchise to meet the league's minimum goal two weeks ahead of schedule. Said Bayh, "I have long believed that both our daughters and our sons need to experience the benefits that come with participating in sporting activities." Bayh introduced the 1972 Title IX law, which provided equal opportunities for female participation in athletics.

OCTOBER 12, 1999

WNBA President Val Ackerman visits Indianapolis as the guest speaker at a WNBA Corporate Luncheon, Ackerman speaks to 220 corporate representatives at the Columbia Club on Monument Circle.

OCTOBER 20, 1999

WNBA: 2004 & history

History of the WNBA

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman — the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes — the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper — the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets — the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie — the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "to-do list." With less than 15 months to tipoff, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows:

ON THE AIR ...

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner through 2002, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen in carrying WNBA games beginning with the 2003 season.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2003, with WNBA content broadcast to 183 countries in 26 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

THE PLAYERS AND THE TEAMS. . .

The first of the player signings was announced on Oct. 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bollon, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player) and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight leams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting. Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

On April 29, 1999, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced the league's first collective bargaining agreement - a first of its kind in women's team sports.

By 2000, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle în 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On Jan. 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun were awarded the Orlando Miracle and became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Tribe of Indians becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history.

On April 25, 2003, the WNBA and the WNBAPA signed its second collective bargaining agreement which gave WNBA players the first free agency rights in women's professional team sports.

On Sept. 19, 2003, the Cleveland Cavaliers / Gund Arena Company announced that they decided they would no longer operate the Cleveland Rockers.

THE WNBA DRAFT

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on Nov. 13, 2001. The Cleveland Rockers made Latoya Thomas of Mississippi State the No. 1 selection in the 2003 WNBA Draft held April 25, 2003.

THE LOGOS AND THE UNIFORMS . . .

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo - "Logo Woman" - was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a lie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms -- two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

On May 1, 2003, the WNBA and Reebok unveiled new uniform designs, which were created to maximize performance and provide optimal comfort for the players. The jerseys are tapered to fit a woman's body and are designed to be worn untucked, providing a free range of motion for the players. The new uniforms features flat-back mesh material that incorporates Play Dry™ technology - Reebok's moisture management system that helps keep the athlete cooler, drier and more comfortable by using temperature and humidity-regulating properties in the fabric.

The WNBA and Reebok also unveiled a new style in the WNBA Footwear Collection by Reebok - the WNBA Isolation - at the beginning of the 2003 season. This shoe features the WNBA logo on the heel, tongue, sole and sock liner.

IT'S A BALL GAME . . .

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 20-foot, 6¼-inch 3-pt line, two 20-minute halves, 11-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

History of the WNBA

MILLIONS OF FANS JOIN IN . . .

The inaugural WNBA season lipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season. In 2003, the WNBA season attendance topped the 2 million for the fourth consecutive year.

FANS GET CONNECTED ONLINE ...

The league website, WNBA.com, is the single most authoritative source of information for WNBA fans around the world offering late-breaking news, real-time scores, statistics, behind-the-scenes access, video highlights, the most comprehensive women's sports fantasy basketball game, WNBA Virtual GM, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders and complete websites for all 14 WNBA teams.

On May 31, 2003, WNBA.com featured the first-ever live video webcast of a game in women's professional sports history when the Detroit Shock played the Charlotte Sting. The success of the groundbreaking webcast led to the launch of WNBA Broadband Season Pass, a multimedia subscription service featuring 10 additional live webcasts of WNBA games, WNBA Season Audio Pass and broadband highlights and features.

Overall the popularity of WNBA.com continues to soar. During the 2003 season, WNBA.com averaged over 60,000 visits per day.

IN THE COMMUNITY . . .

For the WNBA, the focus has been three primary outreach initiatives: Read to Achieve, a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children; the Breast Health Awareness program, an initiative designed to draw national attention to the issue of breast car-cer and the importance of early detection; and the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. In 2003, the league debuted its WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit, campaign, which encompasses the Breast Health Awareness program but also focuses on nutrition, exercise and positive self-image.

LEAGUE SHOWCASES ALL-STARS . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excilement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars - led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles center Lisa Leslie - defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars, 73-61, before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars, 81-76, in front of a crowd of 19,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time, ESPN televised the game live through the 2002 game.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game marked its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on July 12. The event was held on the weekend for the first time and made its network television debut on ABC. The West All-Stars won the event for the fifth straight year by beating the East All-Stars, 84-75, in front of 18,610 fans, with Nikki Teasley of Los Angeles taking home the MVP honors.

WNBA FINALS...

The first four years of the WNBA saw the Houston Comets dominate the league Finals and create the first dynasty of the WNBA. The Comets captured the inaugural Championship against New York on August 30, 1997 by a score of 65-51. Comets guard, Cynthia Cooper won the first Finals MVP award. In 1998, the WNBA Finals was expanded to a threegame series and Houston defeated Phoenix, 2-1, and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her second consecutive Finals MVP award. In 1999, New York advanced again to the Championship and played Houston, a rematch of the 1997 Championship game. The Comets outlasted the Liberty to win their third straight WNBA Championship, 2-1, and Houston's Cynthia Cooper won her third Finals MVP award. In 2000, Houston and New York played for the third time in four years with the results the same as the previous years with Houston winning their fourth straight WNBA Championship, 2-0, and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her fourth straight Finals MVP award. In 2001, Los Angeles knocked off Houston in the early rounds of the Western Conference playoffs and advanced to meet Charlotte in the WNBA Finals, Los Angeles, behind the play of Finals MVP Lisa Leslie, won the WNBA Finals, 2-0. In 2002, Los Angeles advanced to the WNBA Finals and earned the right to defend its WNBA championship versus New York. The Sparks defeated the Liberty, 2-0, and won their second consecutive Finals while Lisa Leslie won the WNBA Finals MVP award for the second straight year.

In 2003, the Los Angeles Sparks returned to the Finals with the opportunity to win three straight WNBA Championships However, the Detroit Shock advanced through the Eastern Conference and reached the Finals and because they finished the regular season with the best record in the league, they earned home court advantage for the Finals. It ended up being vital as the Sparks won the first game in Los Angeles to take a 1-0 lead, Detroit bounced back to win Game 2, 62-61, to even the series. The third and final game was played in front of a sellout crowd and record attendance for the WNBA of 22,076. The Shock captured the WNBA crown winning the game by a score of 83-78 as Detroit center Ruth Riley was awarded the Series MVP.

WE GOT GAME . . .

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA, log onto WNBA.com.

CREDENTIALS MUST BE VISIBLE AT ALL TIMES.

All media with access to restricted areas will be required to produce a photo ID, and all bags and equipment will be subject to inspection.

CREDENTIALS

Seating at Conseco Fieldhouse's press tables is restricted to accredited working media representatives. Non-working media will be seated in reserved seat areas when seats are available.

Single-game credentials must be requested no later than noon the day before the game (Friday noon for Sunday games).

You may request credentials by faxing, on company's letterhead, to the Fever's Public Information Department at (317) 917-2599, or by writing, on your company's letterhead, to the Fever's Public Information Department, 125 S. Pennsylvania Street, Indianapolis, IN 46204.

Credentials are good for admittance to Conseco Fieldhouse, the Bill York Media Room and home and visiting locker rooms.

Pre-arranged credentials may be picked up before the game at the media entrance.

MEDIA MEMBERS HOLDING FEVER SEASON CREDEN-TIALS MUST NOTIFY THE FEVER'S PUBLIC INFORMATION DEPARTMENT IF PLANNING TO COVER A GAME IN ORDER TO RESERVE SEATING.

AUTOGRAPHS

SEEKING AUTOGRAPHS OR SOUVENIR ITEMS FROM PLAYERS OR COACHES IS STRICTLY PROHIBITED AND SUBJECT TO FORFEITURE OF CREDENTIAL.

MEDIA ENTRANCE

The media entrance is located at the southeast corner of Conseco Fieldhouse, off of Delaware Street. Only media members who hold Indiana Fever or WNBA media credentials will be admitted through this entrance.

BILL YORK MEDIA ROOM

Located on the Event Level of Conseco Fieldhouse in the southeast corner. It is accessible by either elevator or stairs near the Media Entrance.

The Fever must limit media room usage to members of the media only when valid Fever or WNBA media credentials are presented. It is impossible to accommodate family members, friends, guests or others.

The professional intent of the room is to provide a meeting and working place for the media and game personnel. Any abuse of the media room and/or media privileges will cause forfeiture of your credential.

SERVICES

Complete statistics, along with pregame notes, lineups, information regarding injuries and other pertinent facts will be furnished by the Fever's Public Information Department.

Play-by-play and halftime boxscores will be delivered directly to the press table. Complete final boxscores, play-by-plays and postgame quotes and notes will be available following the game in the media room.

FAX - The Indiana Fever will provide one fax machine for use in the media room.

PRESS ROW

Your cooperation is asked in maintaining a working atmosphere at press row. Smoking is prohibited in Conseco Fieldhouse.

LOCKER ROOMS

Both the Fever and visitors' locker rooms will be open to the media for 30 minutes, beginning 90 minutes before tipoff. For example, the locker rooms will be open from 5:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. for a 7:00 p.m. tip.

POSTGAME LOCKER ROOMS

Both locker rooms will be open for 30 minutes following the game. Players will remain in uniform for the media availability period.

PHOTOGRAPHY GUIDELINES

Only those photographers on assignment will be allowed space on the floor and their photo credentials must be worn prominently at all times.

Space permitting, other photographers will be allowed on the floor.

Credentials are good for admittance to Conseco Fieldhouse, Bill York Media Room and the designated photographer areas on The Fieldhouse floor. Only television photographers doing postgame interviews will have access to locker room areas.

Photographers are allowed only within the designated photographers' area at each end of the court. As necessary, spaces will be assigned by the Fever's Public Information Department.

All photographers and camera operators must stay at least four feet behind the baseline at all times. In the event it is not physically possible to achieve this in certain arenas, an appropriate standard will be determined by the Fever's Public Information Department and the WNBA.

Media Information

Photographers must remain stationary and seated at all times, except during quarter breaks and halftime.

Photographers are not permitted on the court at any time during the game.

No food or drink is allowed on the playing floor.

Photographers cannot photograph from public walkways or vomitories

If space is available, photographers may request to photograph from the media seating in the stands.

When placing tape on the playing floor, authorization must be received by a member of the Pacers Sports & Entertainment Public Information Department or Facilities Division.

PHOTOGRAPHER'S EQUIPMENT

Photographers located on the baseline or sideline will be permitted only one standard size "Domke" bag, which must be placed behind the photographer during the game. Equipment not needed during the game must be stored off the court. One additional camera can be stored either beside or directly behind the photographer.

Each photographer will be permitted one monopod - NO TRIPODS - at courtside. No stand-alone remotes or seats other than "lawn-type" photographer seats will be permitted.

All film should be unpacked before the game and the photographer should properly dispose of all trash.

RUBBER LENS SHADES

In order to reduce the risk of injury to players, rubber lens shades are required for all still photographers, broadcasters, news and entertainment video and film crews who are authorized to shoot WNBA game action.

Any additional light sources or sun guns must either be removed or covered with bubble wrap.

Rubber lens covers are available by contacting:

Robert's Distributors, Inc. 255 S. Meridian Street Indianapolis, IN 46225 (317) 636-5524 / (800) 726-5544

The only exception to this policy will be for those photographers utilizing telephoto lenses (i.e. 300 and 400 mm lenses) when such lenses are used to shoot game action at the opposite end of the court. These lenses must be stored behind the photographer when the action is in the near side of the court.

FAX: (317) 636-5793

PHOTOGRAPHY IN LOCKER ROOMS

No still photography is permitted in the either teams' locker room.

CLOTHING

All photographers must leave any outerwear (i.e. coats, hats, etc.) in the Bill York Media Room during game action.

TV NEWS CREWS

Credential requests must be received by Noon the day of the News crews are restricted to crowd interviews in the Entry Pavillon, Balcony and Main Concourse. Interviews are not allowed in the vomitories on any level of Conseco Fieldhouse. News crews are not allowed on the Suite Level or the Krieg DeVault Club Level, unless accompanied by a member of the Fever's Public Information Department. In order to enter a suite, each news crew must have permission from the individual suite holder to enter their respective suite. Once permission is granted, the news crew must inform a member of the Fever's Public Information Department, and then will be accompanied into the suite by a member of the Fever's Public Information Department.

During game action, news crews must shoot crowd reaction from designated areas. Check with the Fever's Public Information Department for locations. No interviews will be allowed within the seating bowl once game action begins.

INTERNATIONAL MEDIA

All international media (affiliations distributed outside of the U.S.) requests are handled by the NBA International PR Department. Any international media member interested in covering an Indiana Fever regular-season game must first submit a request in writing to the WNBA. Please do not contact the Fever individually.

All credential requests must be received at least three business days prior to the first games requested.

Photo identification will be required when picking up confirmed credentials at the Media Entrance.

Requests may be FAXED to the attention of:

Mathew Allred

Public Relations Assistant, NBA International FAX: (212) 407-8044

Additional information on international media policies may be obtained by contacting Mathew at (212) 407-8502 or via email at mallred@nba.com.

Fever Announces Partnership with GALYANS Sports & Outdoor

During an April 20, 2004, press conference at Conseco Fieldhouse, Pacers
Sports & Entertainment and the Indiana Fever announced the signing of a major corporate partnership with national sporting goods retailer GALYANS Sports & Outdoor. Established first as a grocery store in Plainfield, Ind., in 1945, GALYANS becomes the ninth Building Partner of Conseco Fieldhouse, and the Presenting Sponsor of the Indiana Fever. The long-term commitment further cements GALYANS as Indiana's "Home Town Home Team."

GALYANS Sports & Outdoor joins ATA, Bank One, Conseco, Emmis Communications, The Indianapolis Star, Marsh Supermarkets, Miller Brewing Company and Pepsi as Building Partners of Conseco Fieldhouse, widely regarded as one of the premier sports and entertainment showplaces in the world, Through this building partnership, which includes premier signage locations, official status, and category exclusivity, GALYANS' name will become synonymous with Conseco Fieldhouse and its primary tenants, the Fever and the Indiana Pacers. Its visibility will be enhanced in front of all audiences and events at Conseco Fieldhouse.

Building upon its theme of "Home Town Home Team," GALYANS sought to establish a partnership with PS&E - in place of what had been a more traditional sponsorship since 1999.

Of the partnership, Ed Holman, CEO of GALYANS, said, "This is a natural extension of our position in this community as the "Home Town Home Team" sporting goods retailer. We're very pleased with the elements our team and the Paccers' and Fever representatives identified to create a program that capitalizes on the strengths of all three partners and, best of all, benefits our customers and the community here in Indiana.

"As part of this new association we are thrilled to be more involved in our women's community. GALYANS has supported the female athlete and today it represents almost 40 percent of our business. With this new partnership we are even better able to serve our women and female student-athletes."

"We're obviously quite happy to have GALYANS join us as a building partner and the primary sponsor of the Indiana Fever," said PS&E's CEO and President Donnie Walsh. "When we opened Conseco Fieldhouse in 1999, one of our primary objectives was to make this a destination place for this community and the State of Indiana. That meant getting as many people involved as possible, from fans to sponsors. GALYANS is a local company and we're proud to have them as part of our team."

With both the Pacers and the Fever, the GALYANS partnership means increased visibility between its presence at Conseco Fieldhouse, in media advertisements and game broadcasts; and the distinction as the Official Sports and Outdoor Retailer of PS&E.

Specific to the Fever, which enters its fifth year in the Women's National Basketball Association, GALYANS becomes the Presenting Sponsor for the Fever. GALYANS is just the second Presenting Sponsor of a WNBA franchise, joining defending WNBA champion Detroit who announced a similar partnership earlier this year. GALYANS will be linked as the franchise's Presenting Sponsor in all print, Internet, radio and TV advertisements in a partnership that reflects GALYANS' commitment to women and their athletic endeavors. A new logo has been designed to attach GALYANS' name to all Fever activities and community events, inside and out of Conseco Fieldhouse.

"This is a great statement for our franchise," said Fever Chief Operating Officer and General Manager Kelly Krauskopf. "Our league and our franchise both have grown immensely over the past year. As we begin our fifth season in Indiana, we are proud to be a part of this community's sports landscape. And we are equally proud to have such a credible sponsor as GALYANS to Join in our efforts in promoting the game of women's basketball. GALYANS' commitment is a great example of the growth that has been made for women's sports overall."

Not only will GALYANS play host to numerous community activities, it will sponsor the Fever's Jr. WNBA leagues operated at greater Indianapolis YMCAs as well as the inaugural Fever Skills Camp to be conducted in August 2004. In addition, GALYANS will become a growth and exposure vehicle for the Fever, as players will make regular appearances at each of GALYANS' five Indianapolis locations.

GALYANS has already been the site of various Pacers community activities including last year's Jonathan Bender Coat Drive. The joint partnership allows GALYANS the opportunity to maximize the Pacers' and Fever's community programs by adopting a "team approach." Pacers and Fever fans share demographic similarities, and the partnership provides the opportunity to bring Pacers and Fever fans together, through appearances and redemptions as part of the GALYANS Rewards Program.

GALYANS, the Fever and Pacers, and Pacers Sports & Entertainment - Indiana's Home Town Teams Together.

About GALYANS Sports & Outdoor

RETAIL CONCEPT

GALYANS (NASDAQ: GLYN) is an active lifestyle retailer, a concept that takes advantage of the latest lifestyle trends in sports, fitness, outdoor recreation and apparel and appeals to everyone in the family, from the casual consumer to the serious sports enthusiast. GALYANS is unique in that its stores not only sell the equipment for popular lifestyle activities, but also the footwear, apparel and accessories that go along with them.

PHILOSOPHY

GALYANS exists and thrives because the company is passionate about sports, the outdoors and getting the most out of life. GALYANS offers the best merchandise from top brands, such as Nike, adidas, The North Face, Columbia, Salomon, Shimano and many more. Plus, stores are staffed with people who stay actively involved in sports and the outdoors and are eager to share their knowledge and help consumers look and perform their best.

LEADERSHIP

In a move that accelerated its expansion as the world's most innovative sports retailer, GALYANS was acquired by The Limited, Inc. in July 1995. In June 1997, Pat Galyan announced his retirement as President of GALYANS Trading Company, Joel Silverman, former COO of Lerner New York, a division of The Limited, Inc., was appointed President, Robert Mang was appointed Chairman and CEO in 2000. Freeman Spogli bought a majority interest from The Limited in 1999, and the Company completed its Initial Public Offering in June 2001. GALYANS' executive team of retail experts is headed by Edwin J. Holman, CEO. Mr. Holman was appointed in March 2004; from September 2003 until March 2004, he served as President and Chief Operating Officer. Prior to his GALYANS leadership, Mr. Holman served as President and Chief Operating Officer of Bloomingdale's. His career also includes management positions with Richs-Lazarus-Goldsmiths, Petrie Retail and Neiman Marcus

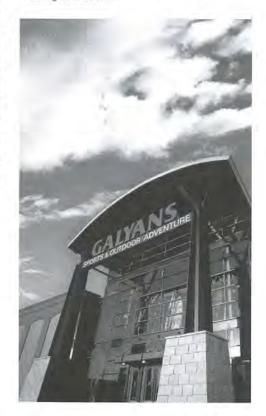

HISTORY

Albert Galyan opened a grocery store in 1946 in Plainfield, a suburb of Indianapolis, Indiana, and kept it open 24 hours a day. This was a rather progressive concept at that time. Fifteen years later, he used it to supply friends and family with the highest quality camping, fishing and hunting equipment in addition to groceries and household items. Again, a good idea. Soon the sales of sports equipment and clothing outpaced the groceries and Mr. Galyan began to refocus his efforts. In 1960, GALYANS opened its first outdoor store and in 1976 Albert handed the reins over to son, Pat.

LOCATIONS

GALYANS currently operates 46 stores in 21 states including Alabama, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, Missouri, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Texas, Utah, Wisconsin and the Washington, D.C. area (Maryland and Virginia). GALYANS plans to open nine new stores in 2004. By the end of 2004, GALYANS will operate 51 stores in 22 states, including North Carolina.

Conseco Fieldhouse Seating Chart

With 750,000 square feet and 18,345 seats, this is a fairly new house that is, remarkably, an old home.

Conseco Fieldhouse, opened Nov. 6, 1999, when the Indiana Pacers hosted the Boston Cettics, is a step into the future while taking a walk back into history. It's big, yet comfortable. It has all the modern appliances, yet there's that favorite old picture on the wall. It is a building that is unique in today's sports society because the extra effort was made to make it that way. In other words, if you have a religion, you must build the appropriate cathedral.

In Indiana, basketball is religion. Conseco Fieldhouse is the cathedral. That's what makes the home of the Indiana Pacers and Indiana Fever unique.

"We wanted this building to have a kind of special feeling to it, that when people came into it they felt part of the tradition that the building is for," said Pacers Sports & Entertainment CEO & President Donnie Walsh. "I think this is a pure basketball arena that reflects the game itself and the roots of the game."

Ground was broken on July 22, 1997, on the $183 million multi-purpose facility and while there were blueprints, a scale model and dreams, it was hard for anyone at the time to fathom what would evolve. But what has risen 14 stories into the Indianapolis skyline is a fit perfect for the city, the state, the game of basketball at any level and the various events a facility of this type would host.

"There are so many features that make it one-of-a-kind," said Tom Proebstle, Project Designer for Ellerbe Beckett, the Field-house design firm. "The most obvious feature is the two huge glass curtain walls facing east and west that mark the beginning of an incredible architectural promenade as you are approaching downtown on the highway and see the lit-up glass set against the Indianapolis skyline. No other arena in the world can claim this, I'm sure it will be copied many times over."

That's the view from the outside. Inside, the unique look and feel of Conseco Fieldhouse fully takes over. The Entry Pavilion is a vast gathering place that funnels fans to the Grand Staircase. As patrons make their way up the staircase, their view takes them to their first look at the seating bowl (another unique feature) or to large, memorabilia cases on each side of the entrance to the Fieldhouse seating bowl.

From there, no matter which direction one takes, it's a nostalgic look. From the signage, to the concession stands, to the sponsor pavilions, to the bathrooms, to the practice facility, to the light fixtures, to the scoreboard, to the roll-out bleachers at the south end, Conseco Fieldhouse is unique, distinct and, as Pacers' guard Reggie Miller described, "Unbelievable, Absolutely unbelievable. Far beyond my expectations."

Conseco Fieldhouse has suites (69), club seats (2,400) and state-of-the-art amenities. But it has a look and feel unlike any other indoor facility.

This unique feel has brought many comparisons and compliments to Conseco Fieldhouse. The USA Today calls the Fieldhouse "A Cathedral to Basketball" and Amusement Business Magazine refers to Conseco Fieldhouse as "The Camden Yards of Basketball." NBC's Bob Costas said Conseco Fieldhouse "is winning raves all around the league, many think it's the best building in the NBA."

In addition to hosting major boxing events (Vernon Forrest vs. Sugar Shane Mosley, 7/21/102; Roy Jones, Jr. vs. Richard Hall, 5/13/00) and the Indiana Pacers and Fever, the Fieldhouse has hosted visits from Pavarotti, Bill Cosby, Bruce Springsteen, The Boston Pops, John Mellencamp, Tim McGraw & Faith Hill, The Dixie Chicks, NSync, Britney Spears, Crosby Stills, Nash & Young, Kid Rock and Disney On Ice. It has also played host to the 2002 FIBA World Basketball Championships and in 2004, it will host the FINA World Short Course Swimming Championships.

Additionally, Conseco Fieldhouse has already been cited for its compliance and exceeding of ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requirements.

WNBA Playoff Format

The top four teams from each conference will qualify for the 2004 WNBA Playoffs. The first and fourth-place teams, and the second and third-place teams, will each play a best-of-three first-round series. The winners of the first round series in each conference will then play in a best-of-three conference final. The two conference final winners will meet in a best-of-three championship series.

TIEBREAKER PROCEDURE

The following tiebreak procedure shall be used to break ties for playoff eligibility, home court advantage and draft order, in determining draft order, non-playoff teams will always select before playoff teams.

TWO-WAY TIE BETWEEN TEAMS IN THE SAME CONFERENCE

- (1) Better record in head-to-head games
- (2) Better winning percentage in own conference
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season
 - (4) Better point differential in games head-to-head
 - (5) Coin toss

TWO-WAY TIE BETWEEN TEAMS IN THE DIFFERENT CONFERENCE

In order to break a tie, the following criteria will be utilized in the order set forth:

- (1) Better record in head-to-head games
- (2) Better winning percentage against teams in the opposite conference
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with ..500 or better record at the end of the season
 - (4) Better point differential in games head-to-head
 - (5) Coin toss

MORE THAN TWO TEAMS TIED

As many teams as possible will be eliminated at each step. As soon as one or more teams are eliminated at any step, the process must begin again from step (1).

- (1) Better winning percentage among all head-to-head games involving tied teams
- (2) Better winning percentage against teams in own conference (if all teams are from the same conference) or better record against teams in the opposite conference (if one or more teams are in different conferences)
- (3) Better winning percentage against all teams with .500 or better record at the end of the season
 - (4) Better point differential in games involving lied teams
- (5) Coin toss

SCHEDULING

FIRST ROUND

The first and second place teams in each conference will have home court advantage in the First Round and will host a Game Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.

CONFERENCE FINALS

The team with the better regular season record will have home court advantage in the Conference Finals and will host Games Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.

WNBA FINALS

The team with the better regular season record will have home court advantage in the WNBA Finals and will host Games Two and Three (if needed) of the series after playing Game One on the road.
